Legislature May Revise Poor Law

and the S. C. A. A. committee on revision of the poor law.

For more than two years representatives of the above interested groups and a commissioner appointed by the Legislature have been studying the old law. The measure is the result of careful work on the part of representatives of the three organizations most interested in securing an intelligent revision of the laws relating to the care of the poor.

Last year two bills proposing a new Public Welfare Law were introduced rather late in the session. One bill was drafted by Charles H. Clark, the legislative commissioner, and the other by the S. C. A. A. committee on revision of the poor law. A hearing on the bills was held before the Senate Judiciary Committee. It seemed to me at that time that both bills had merit and that the group had the same purpose in mind, namely, to improve the present system of caring for the poor. I, therefore, suggested that they wait together, study the matter further and agree on a bill to be introduced this year. They followed the suggestion. George J. Werner, commissioner of public welfare in Westchester county, who is chairman of the legislative committee of the Association of Superintendents of the Poor, called a conference of representatives of that group and the State Charities Aid Association.

Jack Wadlin has returned from Rochester, N. J. His mother, who has been visiting her children there, came back with him, and is now at her home on White street.

Ida McKinley, D. of A., of this place, held a card party after their meeting Wednesday evening, February 1. About 100 were present. Games were very interesting and some handsome and useful prizes were given. A nice sum was cleared for the order. Ice cream, cake and coffee were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Constable have been visiting their daughters in Poughkeepsie the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Maynard arrived at St. Petersburg and are enjoying the weather there.

Mrs. Laura Tillson Vail of Vineyard avenue has been spending some time in Atlantic City.

Genevieve Everett of White street celebrated her eleventh birthday last Thursday afternoon. She received pretty gifts, and games were played and refreshments served. It was a very pleasant party.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mersey have had guests from Riverside Drive, New York City.

Mrs. Daniel H. Starr was hostess to the members of U. D. Society at her home on Vineyard avenue Saturday afternoon.

Miss Janet Finley, who has been in Poughkeepsie for an operation for appendicitis, is improving. She will be home in a few days.

The Presbyterian choir is now getting ready for its Easter music.

S. G. Carpenter is improving after an operation in Vassar Hospital.

Fan to Purify Air

Purification as well as circulation of the air is sought in an electric fan recently introduced in France. It produces ozone from a small generator attached to it, the gas being blown outward by the rapidly revolving blades, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Ozone is used in sterilizing water and may sometimes be detected by its odor after a flash of lightning.

Good Games at Y.M.C.A. Tonight

A record attendance of basketball fans will probably occupy the balcony at the Y. M. C. A. tonight to see the hardest fought campaign since the starting of the Industrial Basketball League. The contest will be staged by the Apollos, league leaders, and the Athletics, who will battle to put themselves on a level with their opponents. The second game of the evening will be between the Columbia team and the Central Hudson B. quitters.

The Apollo team has been successful in every game it played at the Y. M. C. A. since the starting of the Industrial League. The quitters have won eight consecutive games and will battle hard to hold first place in the league standing. The Athletics won seven games and dropped one. They figure strongly on taking the title with the magnetic workers tonight to put them in a tie position for leadership of the Industrial League. The game will start at 8:30 o'clock and fans who expect to get front seats are advised to be at the "Y" early.

Colonel Fred Lindsay, explorer and big game hunter, who appeared at the Broadway Theatre during the first part of the week, addressed the students of Kingston High School at the regular assembly period Wednesday morning. He was introduced by Harry Lazarus, manager of the Broadway Theatre, and his educational talk concerning Africa, where he has traveled extensively and big game hunting was thoroughly enjoyed.

Col. Lindsay imparted a true picture of the way African natives live and told the students that it is not the wild uninhabited place as many think but possesses much beauty. He told, for example, of the Rift valley and described the beauty along its extensive course and contained within its great depth of approximately 5,000 feet. Col. Lindsay compared it to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, for which the United States is widely famous.

The description of the natives by the man who worked among them was eagerly listened to by every one in the large assembly auditorium. He vividly told of their characteristics and how they file their teeth to get the benefit out of raw meat that forms a great part of their food. The colonel also described the customs in dress among the Africans. He said copper wire wound about the body forms a fashion of dress and makes the wearers look like ebony and bronze statues as they stand out in the sun.

The Ananias Club "My son," said the rich man, "insisted on working his way through college so he could really appreciate the opportunity of getting a higher education and learn the joy of being independent."

Po'keepsie Five Here Friday

The Kingston High School varsity will line-up against the Poughkeepsie High School quintet at the K. H. S. gym Friday night. The second team will play the Port Ewen team.

At 7 o'clock the first game between the K. H. S. Seconds and Port Ewen quintet will start and the second game will be called at 8 o'clock.

The varsity line-up will be taken from the following men: RF. Maroon or Joyce, H. Smith or Thompson, C. Wonderly, R. Watts or McDonald, I. Melyreux, Capt. or Brown.

The probable line-up for the Second team will be as follows: RF. LeFever or Minasian, H. Hollan or Blackwell, C. Thompson or Brennan, R. Chipp or Brigham, I. Clark.

What is this "Mysterious Substance" In Beef Liver That Brings Joyous Health to Thin-Blooded, Anemic People?

"Eat More Liver."—Doctors Advise.

If you don't know—You ought to know—that science has discovered in beef and calves liver a "Mysterious Substance" that by actual test has succeeded in restoring to good health thousands of weak, thin blooded, worn-out people.

So leading physicians the country over are advising their run-down, thin-blooded patients to eat more liver for better health, more energy and greater vitality.

So wonderfully efficient is this "Mysterious Substance" that in many hospitals that dread disease, Pernicious Anemia, has been successfully treated and overcome.

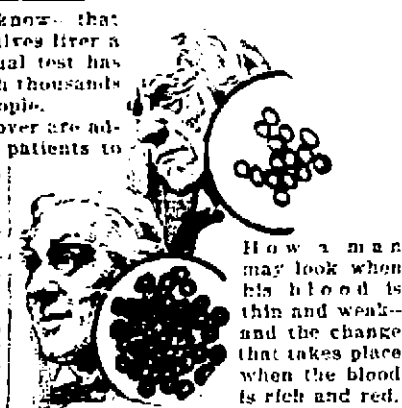

But getting into the system this potent "Mysterious Substance" by eating liver is recognized as a slow process—too slow for the average eager American who wants to get well speedily.

So one of the best known laboratories in America, after prolonged experiments, succeeded in extracting from fresh beef liver the vital elements and put up this extract in concentrated form, very palatable and even pleasant to the taste.

You can go to any druggist who is at all progressive today and get a big 12-ounce bottle of Hemo-Liver that will last you eight days. It is not a patent medicine.

A tablespoonful is a dose and you'll have to eat a lot of liver to get as much of this red blood making "Mysterious Substance," as you'll get in one tablespoonful of Hemo-Liver.

Indeed its powerful efficacy is so apparent that one bottle, or eight days' treatment, often brings such a big improvement in health that both patient and doctor are astonished.

Its success as a maker of rich blood and to bring strength, vigor and vitality to those who are anemic and run down is so certain that pharmacists sell it with the distinct understanding that if one bottle does not help you—wonderfully—your money will be refunded.

Men and women who are suffering from lowered vitality, general weakness, overwork, nervous breakdown or anemia can put their faith in Hemo-Liver. For feeble old people, girls 13 to 15 and in convalescence it won't fail. It strengthens the nerves, increases the red blood cells, promotes health and rebuilds energy.

Get Hemo-Liver at McBride Drug Stores.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

The scratching local noise that has been such a pest for some time in daylight persisted Wednesday afternoon. Something should be done about it. In the evening there was some static but reception was strong and otherwise clear. The WOC chimes could be heard at 6.45 and shortly thereafter WJAX, W3M, WRAP, WSB, WMRF and other southern stations were heard in very great volume. Later in the evening there was a squeal in WOR and another squeal where WFI and PWX should have been heard, with PWX sometimes emerging clearly.

Good western stations were WLS, WLW, WTAM and WSAI. WGY behaved perfectly until about 9 o'clock and then distorted badly. WJZ did a lot of fading.

Short wave stations, WRST, WLGE, WNRG, WCAM and many others could be picked out of the jungle that lies below 200 meters and scores more could be heard until the authorities got nerve enough to arise and smite about 300 stations that poison the air.

Temperature for Milk The best temperature for keeping milk is 30 degrees or less and good milk kept as cool as that should remain sweet for 12 hours at least and ordinarily 24 hours or more after it reaches the consumer. If ice cannot be obtained, an iceless refrigerator or some such device is a help, even though a temperature as low as 50 degrees F. can rarely be maintained in it.

Burke's Wine Words I found in Burke, the other day a passage from which I must often unconsciously have been quoting. Here's the gist of it: "Public duty demands and requires that what is right should not only be made known but be made prevalent; that what is evil should not only be detected but be forced." That, it seems to me, is a lot more—Woodrow Wilson.

Governor May Continue FightOver Republican Cuts in His Executive Budget — Hutchinson
Makes Caustic Comments on Statements from Governor Smith.

Albany, Feb. 9 (AP).—Denying Governor Smith's charge that the handling of appropriations for Long Island state park purposes by the Republican leaders of the Legislature was a "juggling of figures," Assemblyman Eberly Hutchinson, chairman of the ways and means committee, today made caustic comments on statements from the governor.

"It seems to me," said Mr. Hutchinson, "that the noise foundry is getting unduly active. I do not refer to the newspapermen but to the propaganda bureau in the alleged executive department."

Mr. Hutchinson denied that there is any "joker" in the readjusted park appropriation bill, as charged by the governor. Furthermore, he said he knew of no disposition on the part of anyone to make further changes in the measure in the light of the governor's continued criticism.

Senator Charles J. Hewitt, chairman of the finance committee, and Mr. Hutchinson today introduced the two large annual highway appropriation bills, one carrying $11,000,000 for new construction and the other $20,000,000 for maintenance and repairs. He said that the bills as introduced are in the same form as recommended in the governor's budget.

The assembly advanced to the order of final passage without discussing the annual appropriation bill, carrying a total of $182,282,000. Debate on the measure will take place on the third reading.

Reports from the executive chamber today indicated that the governor might not rest his fight over Republican cuts in his executive budget with two messages he has sent to the legislature. It was intimated that he might have another message ready for presentation next week analyzing the whole matter of appropriations, with particular reference to certain of the items eliminated.

Before taking any action, however, he is likely to await a possible conference with Republican financial leaders to see whether various details may be smoothed out.

Love Affair Ends
In Dual Tragedy

Bryn Mawr, Pa., Feb. 9 (AP).—An apparent murder and suicide of the youthful principals in a love affair was discovered early today in the finding of the bodies of a young man and girl huddled together in a coupe automobile in Haverford township, near here.

The girl, Bella Alexander, 17, was not dead when police came upon the coupe, but died several hours later in the Bryn Mawr Hospital without gaining consciousness. Death was due to a bullet wound of the head and another of the abdomen.

Her 21 year old sweetheart, Louis Shapiro, is believed to have died instantly from a bullet which pierced his temple.

The pair had been sweethearts for three years, police learned, and were to have been married in two weeks. For some unknown reason, the girl postponed the wedding recently and her parents advanced the theory that Shapiro shot the girl and then himself when she refused to accede to his request for an immediate ceremony.

Shapiro rented the coupe last night in Philadelphia, the police learned, and went to the Graphic Sketch Club to await Miss Alexander, who had gone there. A note found on Shapiro's clothing, signed "B. A.," showed the meeting in front of the club was pre-arranged. From there they are believed to have proceeded to the lonely spot where the car was found.

Ulster County Medical Society Endorses Work of Junior Welfare League and Opposes The Legalizing of Birth Control.

The Ulster County Medical Society meeting held Tuesday evening at The Governor Clinton Hotel was very largely attended despite the storm and the slippery condition of the highways throughout the county.

Many matters were brought to the attention of the society during the business session. Mrs. W. Anderson Carl and Mrs. C. A. Warren of the Junior Welfare League were present as representative members of the League, their presence at the meeting being for the purpose of securing cooperation of the medical society. The work of the Junior League nurse was outlined and plans for the extension of baby health conferences described. It is the ambition of the Junior League to secure permanent quarters suitable for carrying on their work on a larger scale. Following the discussion the medical society endorsed the work and plans of the league and appointed three members to assist Doran lectured and gave lantern slides demonstrating "Osteomyelitis". Topics bearing on the subject were discussed by the surgeons.

Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Early Story Won First Prize.

The Philadelphia Tribune of February 2, prints a picture of Raymond Emy, a colored boy, 13 years old, formerly of this city, and nephew of Mrs. D. Fitzgerald of 45½ Van Buren street, who received honor in that city. Young Emy was awarded first prize in a children's story contest recently conducted at the Reginald School, Philadelphia, by Ida-bella Yeiser. His short story, "Caught in a Fire Trap", is printed in the newspaper.

Ice Harvesting
Not Very Brisk

Owing to the unsettled weather conditions ice harvesting in this vicinity is far from brisk. The Blinnwater Lake Ice Company, which harvests ice from its lake at Blinnwater, has its house on South Pine street a trifle over half full of 10½ inch clear water ice of fine quality. The rainy weather of the past few days has put a stop to harvesting and no more ice will be cut on the Blinnwaters until another cold spell sets in.

The Cornell Steamboat Company is filling its ice house on Ferry street with ice harvested at Halcottville, Delaware county. The ice is placed in box cars and freighted to this city and unloaded at the ice house. The house is nearly filled. The ice is used in the summer months to supply the vessels of the Cornell Line fleet.

On the Rondout creek the prospects of harvesting a crop were bright until the present rainy spell began, and unless colder weather sets in it is hardly likely that any ice from the creek will be harvested.

Cuba Greets
Col. Lindbergh

Havana, Feb. 9 (AP).—A smiling young man, who startled the world by flying across the Atlantic, today was enshrined in the heart of Cuba. His face reddened by his flights under a tropical sun to 14 other countries included in his present tour, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh landed at the last port of his good will tour nine minutes ahead of scheduled time, yesterday afternoon.

The silver-winged Spirit of St. Louis had covered slightly less than 800 miles since it took off at 5:55 a. m. from Fort An-Prince, Haiti. It landed at Columbia field, site of the original encampment of American forces in Cuba during the Spanish-American war at 3:51 p. m. Caravansmen and infantry with drawn sabres and bayonets quickly formed around the plane to guard it from the eager rush to those who surged forward to acclaim the Lone Eagle. Not only Cubans were in that welcoming throng, but also many representatives of the 21 American nations gathered here in the Pan-American conference.

VILNA LONG A STORM CENTER

In Dispute Since First Mentioned in History Thousands of Years Ago.

Washington.—Vilna, Poland, cause of the dispute between Lithuania and Poland which is reported near settlement by the League of Nations, has been a European storm center since it was first mentioned in history nearly a thousand years ago, says a bulletin from the Washington (D. C.) headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"Before Vilna was named capital of Lithuania early in the fourteenth century, raids by hostile neighbors forced the construction of a high wall to protect its inhabitants. Later it became the battleground of Russia and Poland during intermittent wars, and the object of numerous plundering expeditions. The Prussians, Cossacks, Swedes, Germans and Bolsheviks, besides the Lithuanians and Poles, have all had a hand in Vilna's destiny.

Napoleonic Base.

"But Vilna has withstood its turbulent existence," continues the bulletin. "Today it has a population of about 150,000 and a brisk trade in lumber and grain. Lying at the confluence of the Viliya and Vileika rivers, amid the great forests northeast of Warsaw, the city has been an important commercial center since early times. A Roman trade route between southern Europe and the Baltic led past its gates and now it is the junction point of railroads leading to Warsaw, Berlin, Petrograd and other important central and eastern European cities.

"Vilna's strategic position was known to Napoleon who made it one of his bases when he invaded Russia. Near the city is a tablet recalling the tragedy of that expedition. On one side is inscribed 'Napoleon Bonaparte passed this way in 1812 with 400,000 men.' The other side reads, 'Napoleon Bonaparte passed this way in 1812 with 9,000 men.'

"Entering Vilna by the Ostra Brama, an old city gate, the traveler is impressed with the religious ardor of the inhabitants. Here men, women and children are seen kneeling on the sidewalks and in the streets with their faces uplifted toward the archway. At first one wonders if the Vilnians worship the city as the early Lithuanians worshipped their pagan gods. But closer observation reveals a small chapel atop the Ostra Brama where a painted picture of the Virgin reposes above an altar. At certain times during the day the painting is uncovered and may be seen from the roadway below. Roman and Greek Catholics alike revere the shrine and even a non-Christian native or visitor dons his hat as he passes under the chapel.

Ancient Bootblacks.

"The narrow, crooked, not too clean, streets beyond, solidly lined with three and four-story dwellings and shops, offer a bit of Vilna life. Instead of the agile bootblacks of our cities, in Vilna one might be solicited by a bearded veteran of three score and ten years, clad in a ragged overcoat and scarred leather boots that have long since seen better days. In his hand he carries his little wooden stool and instruments of trade. Then there are the water carriers, perhaps also bearded, who clumsily stride along with their two buckets of water, one held by a wire at each end of poles which swing across their shoulders.

"Along the curb women with shawls tightly wound about their heads and shabby clothing, squat amid tubs and buckets of cut flowers which they arrange in various designs in the gutter and often some distance out in the street to the annoyance of noisy wagon drivers. Above the din of rumbling wheels on the cobblestone streets and human clatter, little news girls cry out the news of the day from their makeshift paper racks in the shop doorways. They sell papers printed in several different languages. For the latest soap or theater advertisements one has only to locate one of the city kiosks whose surface is usually covered with placards."

2,034,604 Stitches in Tapestry of Queen

Sydney.—Australia lost its most patient and painstaking man recently when San Salvador Alfred Case died in Melbourne. The monument to his perseverance was a piece of tapestry six feet two inches long and five feet wide, depicting Mary, queen of Scots, mourning over the dying Douglas at the battle of Langside in 1569.

Case worked into this tapestry 2,034,604 stitches. It took two years to make, and he spent from three to eight hours each day on the picture.

As a work of art, the tapestry is outstanding, for although Case had no artistic training, the picture is technically perfect. Colors were chosen and blended correctly. There are nine figures, two horses and a dog in the picture. The background consists of a tree, a castle, and a battlefield. All the figures are lifelike.

BURIED BY MORMONSMichigan People Believe
Gold Hidden Near Sturgis.

Sturgis, Mich.—The mysterious spectacle that gave to Joseph Smith, founder of the Mormon religion, the title of the golden plates on which were written the laws of the faith, is buried somewhere near here, according to an old story that is told from year to year by older residents.

With the spectacles, the story goes, is hidden in gold and perhaps some other treasure. This fact, probably more than the promise of the fabulous spectacles, keeps the tale alive.

The story, too, has enough authentic history woven into it to make it seem plausible, especially when every so often some plowman or well digger uncovers a spot in the vicinity where something once was hidden.

Dates Back to Death of Smith.
The beginning of the tale goes back to the time when Joseph Smith was killed by a mob in Carthage, Ill. Following his death two leaders arose within the cult. One was Brigham Young, who led his charges to Utah and made national history. The other, about whom less is generally known, was James Jesse Strang, a man whose picturesque career is worthy of a novel.

Strang, said to have been in possession of the sacred spectacles, eventually led the little band that followed him to Beaver Island in Lake Michigan, southwest of the Straits of Mackinac, and the neighboring Little High Island, alleged Elba for recalcitrant members of the Israelite House of David.

Either because the northern climate was too rigorous or because the high quorum of the Mormon priesthood then lay nearer the southern border of Michigan, Strang decided to purchase land for his colony near Sturgis.

Messengers Carry Gold.
For this purpose he is supposed to have sent two messengers south. These messengers had with them $128,000 in gold to buy the land.

But for some unexplained reason they did not buy and instead returned to the colony, leaving the money buried on one of the various pieces of property they had viewed with an eye to purchasing.

Strang, in the meantime, finding that his colony was numerous enough to control the voting strength of his county, was elected to the state legislature. He served two terms there, but had a stormy time and at last was lured off in a boat and killed by his enemies.

Shortly after his death the buried money came to life again. Two counselors went south once more. With them they had a little lead box containing the law-giving spectacles and some books of their faith. These they are supposed to have buried with the money.

Returning to Beaver Island, the counselors made a memorandum of their activities and the location of the buried box.

But the memorandum was lost and with it the treasure.

London Invents Lock to Guard Milk Bottle

London.—Science and a London milk company have come to the aid of despairing housewives whose morning bottles of milk have been disappearing with irritating regularity.

Doors are being fitted with a device which automatically locks the milk to the door and places a metal shield over the top of the bottle. It can only be released from the inside of the door.

The device is placed high up on the door, out of the reach of children and cats. The metal cap covering protects the bottle from marauding birds. A determined thief could only break the bottle, but that would arouse the household.

Recently residents of an entire block claimed that their milk was being tampered with and an inspector assigned to learn the cause discovered an aged jackdaw making the rounds, pecking out the pasteboard bottle caps, apparently for his own mischievous amusement. The new invention will take care of him, too.

Huelva, Spain, Plans
Shaft to Columbus

Huelva, Spain.—A great monument to Columbus initiated in America is to be erected in the place where the explorer spent his last night before sailing on his quest.

Almost three-quarters of a century ago the monastery of La Rabida, whence Columbus sailed to the New World, was ordered demolished by the government and the land where it stood, save that occupied by the little church, was ordered turned over to truck gardeners for the raising of onions and cauliflower.

But the governor who received the order was soon removed and his successor declined to carry out the royal decree. His name was Mariano Castille and in his honor the city of Huelva has named a street after him and the monastery has now placed his portrait in the room occupied by Father Marchena, who helped Columbus in his enterprise.

REYNOLDS
RECOLLECTIONS

The Fate of a Nation

George Clinton, who was later governor and Washington Smith were locked in argument with Alexander Hamilton. This was at the New York Constitutional Convention held in Poughkeepsie at the same time a similar meeting had been called in Virginia.

After heated debate Alexander Hamilton won his opponents over and the ratification went through. Union was made possible. Had the results of this convention been otherwise the nation today would have been divided. New York between Canada and the Atlantic Ocean was the pivot point.

Since that time another ratification has taken place in Poughkeepsie and along the Hudson Valley. Reynolds' Reliance Foods have been approved and accepted as the high quality standard for the past century.

Firm?

It is impossible to say definitely which of the clothing materials, cotton, wool, linen, or silk, was first used but the best authorities are of the opinion that wool antedates the others as a material used by man in clothing. Cotton, which was widely used by ancient Egyptians as well as the Hindus, probably came next. Silk, which the Chinese say dates from 2630 B. C., was the third textile to be adopted. Linen came later.—Fashioned or Magazine.

NEW American Edition of STUDEBAKER'S

ERSKINE SIX
$795 f.o.b. factory
shock absorbers included

FORTY miles an hour even when NEW! Only the most advanced automotive engineering, fine quality materials and precision workmanship make it possible to drive the new Erskine Six 40-miles-an-hour the day you buy it.

This means more than simply doing away with tiresome "breaking-in" at 20-miles-an-hour for the first 500 or 1,000 miles. Only a car carefully seasoned on the dynamometer— assembled with exacting, fine-car accuracy— subjected to the most rigid inspections— can be driven at 40-mile speed from the first without injury to the motor— and 62-mile speed later on! Such cars have been built before, to be sure—but their cost has run into the thousands, where the Erskine is quoted in hundreds.

When a stock Erskine sedan traveled 24 consecutive hours at better than 54 miles per hour average, it proved definitely that the Erskine Six is the champion performer of its class. That record has never been equalled by stock cars priced under $1,000.

Try out this new American Edition of the Erskine Six for yourself—today! A bigger, roomier car—doors nearly a yard wide—rear seats 4 feet wide—shock absorbers. A more powerful car—brilliant 6-cylinder performance with thrifty gas and oil consumption—quick-on-the-trigger acceleration—masterful on hills and highway—amplified-action 4-wheel brakes.

A sensational, low-priced, fine-car value worthy of the 76-year-old Studebaker tradition.

Nebraska to Play At West Point

New York, Feb. 9 (AP).—With the army cadets' season closed to oppose the Nebraska Cornhuskers on the gridiron, the football team today turned to West Point to play at home in the annual game at the West Point Stadium here. At West Point, accommodations will be made for about 25,000 persons, the most in contrast with a possible attendance of 50,000 patrons should the contest be staged in New York.

Among the reasons advanced by the West Point authorities for not coming to New York for this big international tilt is the Georgetown-

Fordham game which falls on November 14, the same day as the Army-Nebraska fray.

It was pointed out that the switching of plans by the Army to hold the contest at the Yankee Stadium might detract from the interest attached to the annual clash of the Catholic college rivals.

Again, the Cadets have three big contests away from home, Yale at New Haven, Harvard at Cambridge, and the Notre Dame struggle here. Many of the officials at West Point believe that a great portion of the games in the football campaign should be played on the home field.

Sense of Proportion

It's a pity about the sense of proportion. One doesn't get it until late in life, when there's nothing more to be proportionate about.—Elin Davis.

Ninth Straight Victory for Hahn

Newark, N. J., Feb. 9 (AP).—Lloyd Hahn, crack flyer of the Boston A. A., has recorded his ninth consecutive victory of the indoor track campaign.

Competing from scratch in a handicap 1,600-yard run at the Newark Athletic Club's eighth annual games here last night, Hahn won as he pleased in the fast time of 2:15 1-5. Hahn holds the present world record for the distance, 2:12 4-5.

Bill Warden, N. Y. A. C., 15 yards, was second. Hahn stayed back of the field until ready and then passed his rivals one by one. It was merely a breeze for him.

Chet Bowman, Newark A. C., made his first appearance since last July and finished last in the 50 and 60-yard events of the sprint series. He withdrew from the 70-yard dash and it was reported he had suffered a recurrence of a leg injury he sustained in an auto accident.

Francis Hussey, of the N. Y. A. C., made a clean sweep of the sprint with Jimmy Pappas of Princeton second, and Bob McAllister of the Knights of Columbus third.

Hahn's team-mate, Leo Lermend, crack distance star, had little opposition in a two-mile handicap. Lermend covered the distance in 9:37 3-5, comparatively slow time. As it was, however, Lermend had passed all opposition four laps from the finish line and won by half a lap from W. Schulze, of the New York Stock Exchange, who had been given a one hundred-yard handicap.

Catherine Donovan, running for the Prudential A. A., broke her own world's indoor mark for the 800 meters in an 880-yard handicap race for women. Her time for the 800 meters was 2:36 4-5 compared with the former mark, set early this year, of 2:33 2-5. She won the race easily.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches rub on good old Musterole.

Musterole relieves the congestion and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief. Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

THE FAD FOR LARGE
CHIFFON HANDKER-

Paris—In a discussion of fads and fashions from the American standpoint a few days ago, the statement was made that printed fabrics were enjoying a tremendous vogue. It is therefore interesting to report that they have had no interest what ever for the Parisians, and that none of the haute couture showed printed fabrics in their midseason collections. Parisians have, however, been much more generous in their choice for accessories and have shown much more interest in printed fabrics and silk for evening wear.

The many printed dresses offered for spring are in fact and the same style and with delicate and varied designs in the majority of cases. All prints are small in design and in color patterns. Dress-makers of printed fabrics whether

AN EASY WAY TO LOSE FAT

Instead of abnormal exercise or diet they combat a cause of excess fat. They supply an element Nature employs to turn food into fuel and energy. This method was discovered by research men some two decades ago. It has for 20 years been embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. Millions of boxes have been taken, and almost every circle shows the results in new beauty, new health and vitality.

The formula comes in every box, also the scientific reasons for results. So users have no fear of harm. Go learn now what Marmola does for excess fat, and why. Your druggist supplies it at $1 per box. Take four tablets daily and watch the change.

square or long, are being worn on the Riviera and in Palm Beach simultaneously, and are expected to be a prominent factor for spring and summer wear.

The square handkerchief scarf, made of spangled net is a charming accessory, and is often the only spangled detail of the robe.

French women are carrying very large chiffon handkerchiefs for evening, in contrasting or matching tone with the dress. Handkerchiefs for general utility remain the same size and are exquisitely dainty when having borders of hairline strips in attractive color schemes that are further carried out in the monogram, which has a tendency to grow larger and larger.

Styles in Handwriting

A study by Leonard P. Ayres showed that from a point of view of legibility handwriting styles may be classified as follows: Vertical—that is, slanting—from 90 to 80 degrees; medium slant, from 80 to 55 degrees; and extreme slant, from 55 to 30 degrees.

Raising her child on common sense

HERE'S a baby that is being brought up in the way he should go, on a plain, sensible kind of rule. His mother learned it from her own experience before he was born. "Just keep your system in good working order," her doctor told her, "and you'll never have anything to worry about."

So, of course, when the baby came she made up her mind to follow that same plan with him. The doctor gave his hearty approval. "Go ahead and use Nujol," he said. "It's just the thing for the baby. Harmless. Safe. Contains no drugs or medicine. It's the most natural way in the world to keep everything normal. For Nujol not only prevents any excess of the body poisons (we all have them) from forming, but also aids in their removal."

Let me give you another suggestion, too. Use Nujol on the outside of the baby. In place of powder. Just swab his skin, after the bath, with a bit of cotton moistened with Nujol. That's the new method they're using in the big hospitals. It has a wonderfully soothing, softening effect on the skin. There's no need for any baby to have rashes and chafing if you use Nujol. Get a big bottle and keep it specially for the baby. Get a separate bottle for yourself.

Why don't you try Nujol in your household? It was perfected by Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey.)

Nujol can't do anyone—baby or grown-up—the least bit of harm. And so many people have found it beneficial. Be sure you get the genuine.

"Smooth Beautiful Skin strongest fundamental appeal"

says Gregory La Cava, director

"The public takes to its heart only the fortunates who have that first essential for stardom—'studio

"Make-up, no matter how clever,

An Idea in Beach Coats Worn at Winter Resorts

Showing one of the newest modes

In beach coats for the southern season. A sports outfit of checkered corded blouse, velvet in beige, with a white scarf effect containing a patch pocket. The shoes are honey beige kidskin.

Bags Are Much Simpler; Footwear Is Toned Down

Bags are much simpler, but the problem of wearing them in a chic manner is more difficult, because the bag is usually of a color and texture to harmonize with the costume, writes a Paris fashion correspondent in the New York Times. A number of the Paris couturiers are showing bags made specially for the toilette with which they are to be worn. Vionnet, for instance, has a bag of plum-brown antelope in a flat envelope shape, made of petals, which is designed especially for the pearl frocks in this shade which she creates. Antelope, suede and calf or pigskin, depending on the nature of the daytime costume, are the smart materials for the day purses with shell or metal mountings which are preferred in Paris. These bags have replaced sacks of reptile skin as modish accessories in Paris.

The unusual skins are also much less in favor for shoes. The designers are showing suede shoes or calf-skin instead, and one rarely sees any other kind worn by fashionable women in the daytime. Jullienne is advancing the suede slipper in pastel colors for evening also. It is much more practical than the satin slipper and quite as charming.

Black slippers for daytime are designed the designer here, although when springtime comes we are likely to be marching about as well as bags to our customers if Paris has her way. Paris designers are creating advance spring slippers of that newest kid, "faux cuir," in gray, beige, blue, green and even red. Brown, too, is hinted as a shoe color. The "faux cuir" has a glazed surface as durable as patent leather and much less brilliant.

Beige and Brown Lead in Paris Evening Dada

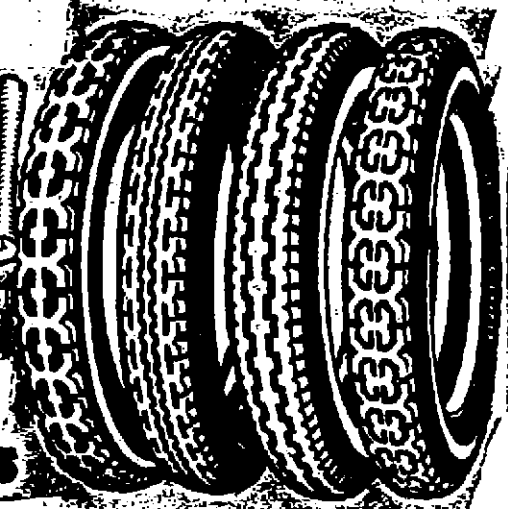

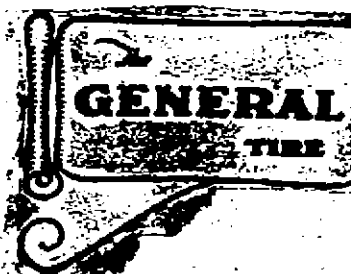

Lame coats with beige linings are frequent accompaniments to the gold and beige evening dresses shown by nearly every Parisian dressmaker this season.

Beige and brown mixtures collared with coarse haired, durable fur are standard for travel and sports coats. Often there is a one-piece dress to go with them with skirt made of the same material as the coat, and blouse of crepe satin attached to it.

Studded Shoe Buckles Popular Paris Fashion

One of the new phases of Paris footwear is the big pearl or metal studded buckle. It is about the size of the silver Quaker buckle. Instead of having the center cut out to expose the leather the latest ornaments present an unbroken surface made up of rows of large pearls, gold or steel nailheads, or small jet knobs. Such buckles are usually placed on simple court pumps of black or color.

DRIVE WITH SAFETY!!

Four Months "Winter Mileage" Free!

Right now, and for the next four months, you need the safety of new rubber and non-skid protection more than any other time of the year. Treads that are worn smooth make dangerous driving in ice, snow and slush.

Putting on new Dual Grip Generals now, you can drive the next four months with no appreciable wear because good rubber shows practically no wear in cold weather.

In addition to having perfect non-skid protection during the bad months you can start the Spring season with tires still practically new and ready for a year or two. You can figure your four months winter mileage on Dual Grip Generals as free.

Your worn tires not only make winter driving risky but increase gasoline consumption with excessive slippage on wet streets.

Drive in today. Let us take off your worn tires, make you a full allowance for the unused mileage left in them and put on a new set of Dual Grip Generals that will give you the maximum in non-skid protection.

With the rubber price now above 40 cents per pound, tires are still selling at prices set when rubber was 34 cents.

America's largest selling margarine

because of its BETTER FLAVOR

Far more Jelke GOOD LUCK Margarine was used by American housewives last year than any other margarine made.

The secret of this overwhelming popularity is that GOOD LUCK has identically the same flavor as expensive spreads-for-bread, yet sells for about half their price.

This real spread-for-bread flavor is the result of more than forty years' experience and the use of nutritious meat products. It stands to reason that such a margarine must be superior in flavor to those made of cheaper vegetable oils.

The use of meat products also makes GOOD LUCK an unusually nourishing margarine. It is rich in food elements, including vitamins, which growing children particularly need.

Use GOOD LUCK, both on the table and in cooking, and enjoy real spread-for-bread satisfaction at low cost. At your grocer's.

Cissy on the Snowslide

By CLARISSA MACKIE

MARTIN BRIGGS built the long snowslide that led from the top of Hooper's hill way down to the village square. Martin had conceived the idea of the snowslide and twenty-five small companions had helped him. Unknown to any of their elders, on the night before the big freeze, they had pumped water from somebody's barn well and poured it over the hard-packed snow.

They said that when Mr. Hooper, the postmaster who lived at the top of the hill, came out of his gate the next morning prepared for a crisp walk to the post office, he sat down on the slide and swiftly and surely went directly to his office door, where first he picked him up to find him much sadder than hurt.

It was on that first morning that Miss Cissy Plumb decided to take her hat to the milliner and have it retouched. Miss Cissy was not so old and not so young. She was pretty and slender and her hair was soft and black. She lived alone in a tiny cottage near Hooper's place, and as she started on her morning walk to the milliner's she was thinking about Andrew Bellew who had brought her some pretty large apples the night before.

"Cissy," Andrew had said, "you are all alone and I am all alone—we could be very contented and happy if we married."

"You mean married each other?" demanded Miss Cissy.

"Of course," said practical Andrew. "You know I always liked you best of all the girls, Cissy."

"One reason that I've never married," said Miss Cissy plainly, "is because I have never met the man I could love." She emphasized the word love so that it sounded very large and important.

"If it was me you liked—" began Andrew humbly when Miss Cissy interrupted.

"I said 'love,' Andrew, not just plain like! I can like most anybody."

"Of course, Cissy," said Andrew rumpling up his brown hair, "you must have known that I meant 'love,' now didn't you?"

But Cissy refused to answer that question. She thanked Andrew again for the apples, and he went home, walking down the middle of the road because the snow was crunching there. The sidewalk was wet and sloppy. It was after his departure that Cissy began to plan about her hat. She tried it on and was sure that it was unbecoming, so she had the thought about taking it to the milliner the very next morning.

"Poor Andrew does not understand women," thought Miss Cissy when her light was out, but she went to sleep with a smile on her lips.

Next morning, after her small household was in order, she took her hat box and started down the sidewalk to go to Eva Frame, the milliner. Miss Cissy wore her best fur coat, no hat and a pair of snug-fitting high arctic. She did not notice the slide!

Immediately it claimed her attention, for her rubber-soled arctic refused to stick to the icy surface, one hand flung forward and the other back, and the latter dropped the hat box just where Miss Cissy could sit plumply down on it, which she did promptly. She started down the slide, gaining speed—faster and faster she flew. Women looked out of door or window and said:

"Land sakes, see Cissy Plumb sliding down hill—you'd think she was some young fapper!"

Once Cissy screamed faintly when Mr. Hall was backing out his motor car, but he heard the cry and stopped in time. Then she was so far along that she thought of what the end might be—the post office and the morning crowd of men and women and children—laughing at her—Miss Cissy Plumb!

What would Andrew Bellew think when he saw her? Would he ever want to marry her? And just then she saw Andrew standing by his large open gate. He was peering up the hill at her—at Cissy Plumb of the highly respected Plumb family—sliding down like any common boy—and she glanced despairingly at him as she came and he was sure that she called, "Andrew, save me!"

He saved her.

Andrew Bellew jumped out on the slide and held out his arms to stop her flight. So it happened that Miss Cissy Plumb, sitting on her best hat in its aquashed box, slid around a curving track straight into Andrew Bellew's doorway. She jumped to her feet and Andrew brushed off her coat and told her it wasn't hurt a bit. Then he silently handed her the hat box.

"I was on my way to the milliner's," explained Miss Cissy primly.

"So I see," said Andrew grimly.

"I thought if I was going to be married I ought to have a new hat," said Miss Cissy, blushing furiously.

"You didn't tell me that last night," said Andrew after awhile.

"I've just discovered that I need you—somebody to look out for me," said Cissy demurely.

"Come into my house," said Andrew authoritatively. "Aunt Hester will give you a drink of cordial—you need it, Cissy—and there's a ring I bought 15 years ago when I first made up my mind to marry you."

If Only—

Our faith in political prophets, which amounts practically to zero, would be increased if only they had sufficient faith in their predictions to advise pestling them in the hat.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

WILLIAM EVERETT DERRYBERRY
(International Illustrated News)

ATTENTION, GIRLS! If you're looking for the perfect man during leap years, you don't have to go any further than William Everett Derryberry, star athlete and student of the University of Tennessee.

"A man whose like we have never seen before," was the verdict of the judges in selecting Derryberry over 15 other candidates to receive the state's Rhodes Scholarship.

Here's why:

1. He was a star halfback at the university for three years;
2. All his grades have been "A's";
3. He's the best student Tennessee ever had;
4. He swims, plays baseball, basketball and golf far above the average;
5. He sings, plays in the band, directs a church choir and is a member of the Knoxville Y. M. C. A. cabinet.

Upon finishing his work at Oxford, Derryberry intends to become a professor of English.

Bill Favored by Auto Association

Known as Financial Responsibility Bill, It Would Compel Motorists to Purchase Security for Judgment That Might Be Obtained as Result of an Accident.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 5.—The Financial Responsibility bill, introduced in the New York State Legislature this week by Senator George B. Pearson of Syracuse and Assemblyman Horace M. Stone of Marcellus, has been given the endorsement of the New York State Automobile Association, with a membership throughout the state of close to 100,000 motorists, according to H. A. Meldrum of Buffalo, president of the organization.

The State Automobile Association, one of the largest groups of organized motorists in the United States, believes that a bill of this type will be preferable to compulsory insurance or compensation insurance, although not so drastic as either.

A bulletin just put out by the association to its ninety clubs in all parts of the state expresses some doubt whether a compensation act applying to automobile accidents and owners could be passed without a constitutional amendment, whereas, it is pointed out, the proposed Financial Responsibility law could be made immediately effective.

The Financial Responsibility bill is designed to insure that those who operate automobiles on the highways of the state compensate persons they injure or pay for property damaged through negligent driving or carelessness.

Although it is believed that this bill will, if passed, cause a very large percentage of drivers who do not now carry insurance to take out protection for those they may injure or kill, it does not in itself actually require anyone to carry insurance and therefore is not compulsory in its nature.

Require Security Promptly.

Under the proposed Financial Responsibility act, the commissioner of motor vehicles would, when requested to do so by one of the persons involved in an accident, require the other party to the accident who was or might be held responsible for the damages resulting, to furnish security within five days for the payment of any judgment that might thereafter be recovered against him in the sum of $5,000 for death or personal injuries to one person or $10,000 for injuries to two persons. In the case of property damage only, security to the amount of $1,000 would be required.

The security required by the commissioner of motor vehicles would be in the form of an insurance policy, a motor vehicle liability bond or cash, bonds, stocks or other evidence of indebtedness satisfactory to the commissioner.

If the person charged with responsibility for the accident was unable to put up an insurance policy, bond, cash or other satisfactory security, his car and license and driver's license would be cancelled or suspended.

Eliminate Irresponsible Driver.

The theory is that a person involved in an accident, who is unable to show financial responsibility by any of the methods provided in the proposed law, should not be allowed to continue to operate a motor vehicle. It is believed that the irresponsible, reckless driver will after the first accident eliminate himself. He may cause one accident and not compensate the person whom he injures but he cannot do it a second time. If suit is not started within thirty days after the license is suspended, it must be restored. If the person whose license has been suspended thereafter is able to deposit proper security, or if he fully satisfies all judgments against himself, the commissioner may restore his car and operator's licenses.

This new law would not actually place any additional penalty on the motorist so far as suspension or revocation of his license is concerned because even now the motor vehicle commissioner, his deputies and various courts may revoke or suspend the licenses of drivers who have violated the motor vehicle laws.

Would Tend to Carefulness.

Not only would the Financial Responsibility law probably cause a large increase in the percentage of persons who carry automobile insurance, its proponents say, but it would also have a tendency to cause those not carrying insurance to drive more carefully because of the ever-present possibility of having their license suspended or revoked.

Therefore, it is something of a safety measure, officials of the New York State Automobile Association point out.

In the case of those persons unable to take out insurance, they would still be permitted to drive, so long as they did not injure persons or property and, even then, they would have the right to drive if they paid any damages assessed against them.

The law would have a tendency to deter motorists from permitting unauthorized or unqualified persons to drive their cars because the motorist is the one held responsible for financial qualifications.

Carried Drivers Not Affected.

It should be noted that this law leaves every operator free to use the highways of the state so long as he operates his car carefully and does not cause damage to the person or property of others.

Another thing claimed in favor of this act is that it probably would, after the first year, result in a substantial reduction in the cost of insurance.

The foregoing statement is predicated on the assumption that such a law would result in 45 to 50 per cent of all car operators becoming insured, whereas only 25 to 30 per cent of operators are insured today. It is claimed. Therefore, the cost of accidents would be spread over a larger premium volume. The commissioner of insurance under the Wordsworth, that should be living at this hour. Only the part of the Cumberland beggar and Alice Fell could do justice to the lady of Kendal, says the London Daily Telegraph. Even his conviction of the spiritual value of being "severely frugal" would have been satisfied by her thrift. She is a member of the Penny Savings Bank of the Charity Organization Society at Kendal, in which she should expect a high standard of virtue. But even there she stands forth conspicuous. The other day she went into the office and drew out her savings, and then, turning round to the officials, who were perhaps startled or reproachful, she told them proudly that she was going to buy with the money a new costume, which would be the first she had had for 20 years. To the prudish country such parsimony seems superhuman. Kendal itself is a little short of levity. The local president of the society could only murmur that it must be a record, and that he had never heard of a woman abstaining from dressmakers and their bills thus long.

present insurance laws has the power to force insurance companies to reduce rates, if they are found to be unreasonably high.

Acts of carelessness and reckless driving would be reported more frequently than now, as any person injured, or whose property was damaged, would be interested in learning through the motor vehicle commissioner whether the person causing the accident was financially responsible.

Compulsory Insurance a Burden.

It has been argued that compulsory insurance would place a burden on the farmer or other persons residing in remote districts, who use a car only occasionally, or whose car may stand for months at a time in a garage. Such persons in order to get license plates under a compulsory act, would have to take out and pay for an insurance policy for the full year.

The Financial Responsibility Bill, introduced by Senator Pearson and Assemblyman Stone, and sponsored by the New York State Automobile Association, would not compel anyone to take out insurance up to the time of the first accident.

Tennep's name is pronounced the same as funny. It also sounds like money.

The juvenile suicide wave is a myth. Statistics of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company show that self-destruction is on the wane and has been since 1920, the most abrupt decline being manifested between the ages of ten and nineteen, the next between twenty and twenty-five, with "less and less rapid improvement as the age scale is ascended." Naturally youth is curious, but there are enough things in this world to hold its curiosity without premature incursions into the next. Among the millions of them, of course, there are some morbid mental types; but it is always has been and always will be among the disinclined, unhappy, unhealthy, unbalanced class that suicide is most prevalent.

Famous Marshes

The Pontine marshes is the name given to a large marshy district in Italy. It lies along the Mediterranean coast between Rome and Naples. The name arose from the fact that in Roman times this marshy region was in a Latin district called Pontius, according to Pathfinder Magazine.

Omaha, Neb.—Two women, one masquerading as the husband of the other, were brought to the police station and held for investigation after they were registered as "Mr. and Mrs. Fred McDonald."
The "wife" gave her name as Pearl McDonald, twenty-eight, and her "husband," Jacquelin Moret, twenty-two. Miss Moret told police she had been posing as a male for 14 years and had worked all over the country at all jobs. She said she would continue to wear male garments for she saw no harm in it as long as she acted as a "gentleman."
Police, however, advised her that if she wishes to remain in Omaha she will have to become effeminate.

COUNTESS FITS MILLINERY WHEN HER ROMANCE FAILS

Best Hair to Best Bourbon Tradition Finds Fault in America Unhappy.
Columbus, Ohio.—Dona de la Guada de Bourras, born to French nobility, is a good milliner.
Her to the best traditions of the Bourbons, Countess Bourras descends daily from her high pedestal to sell a hat here.
The plumber's wife, grocer's daughter, newsboy's mother—bourgeoisie all—are greeted at the entrance of the countess' millinery store with the same fanfare she dreams she may some day again receive.
The countess affects an atmosphere of aristocratic piquancy—because the countess must sell hats.
When the day is done, Countess Bourras no longer is the patronizing milliner—back to her imagery she goes, to her dreams of feudal splendor.
The countess naps it all too irascible—this make-believe in a world of cold reality.
"Democratic America is an ideal graveyard for nobility's living dead."
So placed the countess here, as she dreamed of the Bourbon castles which tumbled with the fall of the Bourbon dynasties and the rise of the French republic.
She was a war bride. Like so many other girls of her land—if not her rank—she fell in love with and married an American. He is Harry Fundt, American army officer.
The alliance was a failure, but the tears of an unhappy bride gave way to the resolve of an unselfish pride, and the countess decided that while in America the thing to do was to end marital difficulties as Americans usually do—through the divorce court—and make the best of the result.
Coming to Columbus, she established a legal residence, preparatory to filing her suit on the grounds of desertion.
The suit of separation is pending.
Despite the wrath of the war and reverses in love and finances, the countess' faith in America and American manhood is not shaken.
On obtaining her divorce, she said, she will remain in Columbus permanently and pursue her task of fitting her creations on American heads.

"Billy the Kid's" Home Regains Cattle Title

Carriazo, N. M.—Lincoln county, which was for many years a center of the live-stock industry of the Southwest, is staging a comeback in the cattle business. Many noted old ranches, some embracing as much as 300,000 acres, have changed hands and are being restocked with high-grade or registered animals.
Lincoln county was a pioneer in the cattle business, the first great herds of the state, often numbering over 100,000 head, being ranged here during the Civil war. The industry in early days was largely confined to big companies and their conflicting range interests gave cause for many bitter range wars.
It was here that Billy the Kid rose to fame in range war activities, killing 16 men of the opposing faction in the Lincoln county war before he died with his boots on at the age of twenty-one. The factional fight in which he figured grew out of the killing of Robert Tunstall, for whom Billy the Kid was range foreman.
George Coe, a former partner and friend of Billy the Kid, still lives here and is one of Lincoln county's leading stockmen.
